

BEAL Escaper Beal |

The Escaper is a clever design that allows a descending party to rig their rappel as a retrievable single line. Not only can you ditch the weight and bulk of the second rope, but in many cases the Escaper will allow you to carry a shorter, and thus, lighter rope because you will have eliminated the need to double your line through the anchor. It works with all ropes with a diameter greater than 7.3mm. We strongly advise familiarizing yourself with its use before your first outing. It then becomes the essential equipment for all mountain enthusiasts!

Key Features

- Perfect back-up if you miscalculate the size of a rappel
- Included protective stuff sack to stay organized.
- Escaper rope is marked and dry-treated.
